Les tableaux ci-joints, établis d'après des données de publications de Statistique Canada, sont extraits d'un document interne sur les tendances en matière d'enseignement postsecondaire préparé à l'intention du Groupe d'étude. Plusieurs publications de Statistique Canada mentionnées dans le présent document et dans le rapport du Groupe d'étude devraient permettre de mieux comprendre la nature de ces tendances. Les documents suivant sont d'un interet particulier:

- Statistics Canada, From the Sixties to the Eighties: A Statistical Portrait of Canadian Higher Education, Ottawa 1979; and

Portrait statistique de l'évolution de l'enseignement supérieur au Canada des années 60 aux années 80, Statistique Canada, Ottawa, 1979.

Includes, especially from the late 1960's, students at non-university institutions (especially CEGEP's in Québec) taking university transfer programs as defined by Statistics Canada. For this reason the figures for universities, as opposed to those for other post-secondary institutions, are not strictly comparable over time. The totals for both are.

Les données incluent, notamment à partir de la fin des années 60, les étudiants non universitaires (surtout des CEGEP au Québec) inscrits aux programmes de passage à l'université définis par Statistique Canada. Par conséquent les données numériques concernant les effectifs universitaires ne se prêtent pas à des comparaisons rigoureuses, contrairement aux données concernant les effectifs des établissements postsecondaires.

Remarque: Les données concernant les effectifs non universitaires et universitaires pour les années allant de 1960-1961 à 1969-1979 ne se prêtent pas à des comparaisons avec celles établies pour les années ultérieures, en raison des différences de classification des effectifs des CEGEP au Québec.

Post-Secondary Enrolment As a Proportion of the 18-24 Age Group Population

Effectifs postsecondaires exprimés en pourcentage du groupe d'âge de 18 à 24 ans

Increasing attendance for many years has been a function of an increasing number of persons in this age group, and an increasing proportion of them attending. The changing pattern of age in Canada's population will see a lessening of persons in the 18-24 age group in the 1980's. Historically, it has accounted for over 80% of full-time post-secondary enrolment, and in the last half of the 1970's total full-time post-secondary enrolment has represented 19 to 20% of that age group.

The following table shows how the college age population has changed and is projected to change through 2001. Its upturn late in the century follows an earlier upturn in the elementary and secondary school age population.

Depuis de nombreuses années, l'accroissement des effectifs scolaires est attribuable à la taille croissante de ce groupe d'âge et au pourcentage croissant des personnes de ce groupe qui font des études. Dans les années 1980, nous assisterons à une diminution du nombre des personnes de 18 à 24 ans. Pendant longtemps, les jeunes gens de 18 à 24 ans ont constitué plus de 80% des effectifs postsecondaires à plein temps et dans la dernière moitié des années 1970 ces effectifs ne représentaient que 19 à 20% de ce groupe d'âge.

Les tableaux qui suivent montrent comment le group d'âge du niveau postsecondaire a évolué et indiquent l'évolution prévue du groupe jusqu'en 2001. L'accroissement du groupe prévu vers la fin du siècle suivra l'accroissement de la population scolaire primaire et secondaire.

Student Mobility within Canada

Mobilité des étudiants au Canada

Students attending institutions outside their home province do so for two main reasons: the courses they want are not available, or they wish, for whatever other reason, to go elsewhere. Available data for full-time university students show, for Canadian students as a group, a remarkable consistency for selected years from 1961-62 to 1978-79. In 1961-62 some 90.1% were attending in their home province. In 1978-79, the figure was 91.1%.

As the following tables show, there were variations among provinces which in the case of Prince Edward Island, for example, can be explained by the fact that no graduate instruction is offered there.

Les étudiants qui fréquentent un établissement d'enseignement en dehors de leur province de résidence le font pour deux raisons: les cours qui les intéressent ne sont pas offerts, où ils désirent aller étudier dans une autre province, pour une raison quelconque. Les données existantes sur les étudiants universitaires à plein temps montrent que le groupe que forment les étudiants canadiens est resté remarquablement stable pour plusieurs années choisies entre 1961-1962 et 1978-1979. Environ 90.1% et 91.1% des étudiants fréquentaient un établissement dans leur province de résidence respectivement en 1961-1962 et 1978-1979.

Les tableaux qui suivent indiquent des variations entre les provinces, variations qui, par exemple pour l'Ile-du-Prince-Edouard, s'expliquent par le fait qu'aucun établissement de la province n'offre de programme pour les cycles supérieurs.

Statistics Canada has incomplete data on province of residence and attendance for non-university post-secondary students, but what data that are available show very little interprovincial mobility.

Statistique Canada ne possède que des données incomplètes sur la province de résidence des étudiants non universitaires et l'établissement qu'ils fréquentent, mais les données existantes révèlent une très faible mobilité entre les provinces.

While Statistics Canada has incomplete data on the age of non-university post-secondary students, it has, since 1971-72, collected information annually on university students in a quite comprehensive manner. The results are interesting, suggesting as they do that for Canada as a whole there has been very little change from 1971-72 to 1978-79 in the percentage of students in the traditional college age groups. Note that the percentages are calculated in terms of the total number of students in each category for whom age was reported.

Statistique Canada ne possède que des données incomplètes sur l'âge des étudiants non universitaires; mais depuis 1971-1972, chaque année, le ministère recueille des données relativement complètes sur les étudiants universitaires. Les résultats sont intéressants et montrent que pour le Canada dans son ensemble, le pourcentage d'étudiants appartenant aux groupes traditionnels d'âge du postsecondaire a peu varié entre 1971-1972 et 1978-1979. Il est à noter que les pourcentages sont calculés en fonction du nombre total d'étudiants de chaque catégorie dont l'âge est indiqué.

Frais de scolarité et de subsistance

The following table shows, for selected years from 1963-64, tuition and living accommodation charges at a sampling of universities. It will be seen that for most of the institutions included, charges for living accommodation increased at a more rapid rate than did tuition charges.

Les tableaux qui suivent indiquent, pour certaines années à partir de 1963-64, les frais de scolarité et de subsistance des étudiants de diverses universités. On constatera que pour la plupart des universités mentionnées, les frais de subsistance se sont accrus beaucoup plus rapidement que les frais de scolarité.
